One Designer Mixes Hot, Spicy Styles With A Refreshing Shot Of Sea-Infused Elements

The pragmatic use of the sea breeze becomes prevalent in the open-air social spaces. With a nod to the azure seas beyond, the giant, wraparound infinity pool provides the perfect spot to relax in the sun or take a cool dip. Nearby, a thatched-roof cabana shapes a sultry lounge area to enjoy a Sundowner cocktail.

Award-winning designer and travel enthusiast Sandra Espinet, shown left, acquires inspiration from all corners of the globe. Her casual, cut loose approach makes her international designs the epitome of relaxed luxury. And “Casa Sanger” exudes just the right amount of that barefoot elegance.

Designed by Espinet, this Mexican-style residence is located in Cabo San Lucas in the Auberge Resort residential community of Esperanza. Overlooking the scenic Sea of Cortez and breathtaking Pacific Ocean views, this home’s strong architectural elements combine with an exotic sense of the tropics. ♦

RIGHT: Wrapped in a myriad of tan, cream, terracotta and teal hues that pays homage to the local area, Espinet’s interior scheme fills the home with an entertaining energy. The continuous zesty and modern design stays true to the prominent enclave of Esperanza.
